

Atlanta Homes & Lifestyles presents the official program for

Christmas House
2006

THE ALLIANCE CHILDREN'S THEATRE GUILD

TABLE OF CONTENTS

- 12 Letter from the Chair
- 16 Hours and Parking
- 18 Committee Chairs
- 19 Ticket Outlets and Group Sales
- 22 Sponsors & Calendar of Events
- 24 Alliance Children's Theatre Letter and House History
- 28 About the Architects & About the Builders

ROOMS AND DESIGNERS

- 30 Front Entry
Lush Life Gardens and Flowers
- 30 Foyer and Powder Room
David Henson Interiors Ltd.
- 32 Library
Milieu Design Group, Inc.
- 32 Master Bedroom
Park Place Interiors
- 34 Master Bathroom
T. Duffy & Associates
- 34 Master Bedroom Closet (Hers)
Closets and More
- 35 Living Room
Lush Life Gardens and Flowers
- 36 Gallery and Passage
Expressive Environments, LLC
- 36 Keeping Room
J. Hirsch Interior Design
- 38 Breakfast Room
PWD, Inc.
- 38 Kitchen
PWD, Inc.
- 39 Laundry
Rachel Oliver Murals & Decorative Painting
- 40 Home Office
Design Matters/Pebbles Glenn
- 42 Mudroom
Susan Vanek
- 42 Girl's Bedroom
Dewey Harris
- 44 Upper Gallery
Rachel Oliver Murals and Decorative Painting
- 44 Boy's Bedroom
Karen Ferguson/Harrison Design Associates
- 46 Teenager's Room
Heather Bentley Designs
- 46 The Down-Time Room
Blount Architectural and Interior Design
- 48 Young Lady's Bedroom and Bath
Jennifer Cook Interiors
- 50 Dining Room/Butler's Pantry
The M Group Interiors, Inc.
- 54 The Shop at Christmas House & Café Noel
- 55 Designer Biographies

FLOOR PLANS

GALLERY AND PASSAGE

Heidi Taylor, Expressive Environments LLC

The hallway is the vein through which life in the home travels and therefore should be a central design element of the home. The focal point at one end captivates and compels, as one approaches the Master Suite. Lighting along the walls accentuates the space as a gallery while the inlay pattern in the wood floor is a work of art itself. The furnishings and artwork selected exhibit the grandeur of days gone by with a fresh perspective and expression.

KEEPING ROOM

J. Hirsch Interior Design

The design of the keeping room in this English country manor home is a sophisticated mix of comfort and style—tailored, uncluttered and pretty. Cherished heirlooms together with classic furnishings lend a broader sense of depth that is at once elegant and inviting. Rough timber beams, a stone fireplace, and understated window treatments frame the space with a charm befitting its inviting livability. The use of varying textures and weaves evokes the charmed existence of youth.

